Jon is an entrepreneur that has started and owned 5 different corporations in the building industry. Working and paying his own way through Nebraska Wesleyan University in Lincoln, it was the construction industry that provided that opportunity. After graduating, Jon worked in building material distribution a short time before starting his first business in 1996. Several other corporations followed, all in related fields, but his passion was realized in building custom homes for people. So taking all of the experience from dealing with manufacturers and materials distribution, partnered with Mr. Schram to put together a team that accentuates each other's strengths to give new home owners what they want! Which is "To Feel Right at Home!" Jon is married to Michelle for over 23 years and they have two wonderful boys Aaron and Carter.

Rod Schram, a native of Omaha, is no stranger to the construction business. He began working in his family's remodeling business at a young age, and moved on to work for other new home builders in the Omaha metro area. This experience has literally laid the foundation to know everything in the building process from the ground up! After college, Rod continued to work in the new home building industry, although always looked for something more challenging! Rod's goal was to build high-quality, custom homes at affordable prices. He wanted to not only give customers new custom homes for the right price, but also a positive home building experience. Rod is single and has two beautiful girls Emily and Beth.
